

14.- ENGLISH TEACHER

BOTH TEACHER AND PUPIL SPEAKING IN ENGLISH

As we constantly use our own language for everything, including for thinking obviously, it is impossible to separate the person from his language, his tongue. In the same way, we can learn to communicate in a different code, which is a foreign language. It is not only a question of speaking it, but also that we need it in the world we are living in. Of course we need it, but this obviousness is not as clear as it should be, not only for teenagers, but also for older people.

So we make it especially clear that, even though they already know it, communication possibilities exist in many situations: talking to much older people, reading newspapers and magazines, listening to music, etc.

Besides, we think that it is really important for students to understand that learning another language makes it easier to make contacts and to acquire knowledge of other cultures. We make a point of having them understand that knowledge of other cultures leads to acceptance, leads to better cultural relationships, and also we can think of having a much more peaceful future, with better communication among people from any place in the world. Thus, a better world, a better future for all of us.
